

Success is represented by kids that are well educated and confident. Motivated and happy. Well balanced and rested. Kids that actually like going to school and are excited about learning. Kids that learn so much in a condensed school week that they have time to pursue, or discover their Passions.

“Learning is influenced in fundamental ways by the context in which it takes place. Rivers Academy is focused on students’ success and keeping their authentic self intact.”

Is Now...

Pursue your passion without academic compromise.

Formerly known as Chalk 2 Champions and now undergoing a name change to Rivers Academy, we are a fully accredited, preferred education program that has become a remarkable success story. Chalk 2 Champions will remain as a foundation helping to further children’s dreams. We are thrilled to be moving to a brand new, custom designed building on Main Street in Alpharetta to accommodate our growing student body.

Introducing Rivers Academy.

Helping kids build successful lives.

When you step away from the norm, you make room for the exceptional.

We're so excited about our growth and how our premise of redefining the "norm" in education is working in the lives of kids and their families. We are an unique alternative to a traditional school setting providing college prep curriculum that exceeds standards, while offering a condensed school week. Studies show that only 3.5 hours a day are used for instruction in a traditional school. We offer the much sought after positive peer interaction and caring teachers without the wasted times and distractions.

At Rivers Academy, students find others who are very much like themselves. Our teachers are some of the most highly educated, and inspirational in their field. Students develop superior writing and critical thinking skills while taking ownership of learning. They receive all the traditional benefits of school with field trips, year books, and dedicated lockers, but have time in their schedules to pursue their passions. The hectic days of running from place to place and the inevitable exhaustion that follows become non issues. At Rivers Academy, kids can meet and exceed academic requirements and pursue their passions without sacrificing either.

Pursuing a Passion.

Whether it's arts or athletics, many of our students are pursuing a passion outside of school. Rivers Academy gives them the first rate, college prep academics they need and deserve with the freedom and flexibility of a condensed school week.

Students receive academic support to enhance their practice, rehearsal, performance and competition schedules. Equally as important, they have the time, focus, and motivation to perfect their passion... making Rivers Academy kids, kids that don't burn out, but kids that excel.

Discovering a Passion.

At Rivers Academy, students can explore their interests, not only because of the extra time their schedule permits, but also because of the highly supportive and encouraging environment. These students are so often inspired and motivated by other students. Kids who are around other kids that are happy and passionate about their lives and pursuits can provide the ultimate inspiration.

We offer enrichments such as chess, painting, computer graphics, and a multitude of other stimulating and exciting options to help children discover their gifts.

Family time is your Passion.

Many of our families put a premium on their time together, and very simply want to create MORE of it. Some also want the flexibility of traveling with their kids, and enriching their educational experience without conforming to the stringent absentee policies of traditional schools. We do all the record keeping, transcripts, pacing, and curriculum... in other words, we do the business of "schooling" for you. If for any reason, a student decides to transition back into the traditional school system; there will be no gaps academically. We are also able to provide accredited transcripts through our sophisticated software making our students fully prepared for any scenario.
